

A303

A New Album from Devon-based
singer-songwriter
Greg Hancock released on September 15th 2017

This new album of 12 original tracks is hard to categorise!

Elements of many genres are detectable: folk, jazz, pop and even classical music all add something to the mix. However, this album is a perfect showcase for the unique sound that Greg Hancock makes.

Thoughtful, rich and unusual lyrics combined with inventive and unexpected melodies, accompanied not only by Greg with his inimitable guitar technique, but also by a whole range of great musicians that have become Greg's friends over the last few years.

Topics range from archaeology to war; from medieval philosophical obsessions to family issues - and include portraits, narratives and even the occasional political observation.

Joining Greg are some of the top musicians around including Sharon Lazibyrd, John Gallagher, Sophia Colkin, Ashley Height, Ben Homer and George Arnold.

RELEASE DETAILS

From September 1st 2017, The album will be available for download from Amazon, iTunes and Google Music.

Physical CDs will be available for mail order shipping from 15th September from

www.greghancockmusic.com

Greg Hancock is a singer-songwriter and instrumentalist who is fast making an impact around the country with numerous live appearances in venues and at festivals.

In recent years, although usually working as a soloist, he has collaborated with and supported some top acts such as Nic Jones, Charlie Dore, Cara Dillon and Sam Lakeman, Coope Boyes and Simpson, Lucy Ward, Jim Causeley, Jacob and Drinkwater, Ange Hardy, Phil Beer and Paul Downes... and many others

For contact and other information
www.greghancockmusic.com

email: greghancocksings@gmail.com